Farm Congress Head Urges U. S. Help Growers

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 10.—Marketing of America's annual surplus wheat crop by the government to insure better prices for the producer was urged today by W. K. James, president, in his opening address to the International Farm Congress here.

James' plan would involve turning over by the farmer of his surplus or exportable wheat crop each year to the United States Grain Corporation and its sale by this agency in the world markets.

The plan also includes price fixing by the government for the bulk of the crop, on the basis of home consumption. Thus under this scheme the wheat raiser would be given two markets for his scrop, and according to James would receive American prices for from 75 to 90 percent of his product, and a world price for the balance.

"At present the farmer sells 100 per cent of his product at the low level of world prices and produces his product and supports his family under the artificially stimulated American price levels," he said.

"We must set up the machinery by which wheat raisers will receive American prices for home consumption and world prices for the surplus."

The secretary of agriculture, under James' plan would estimate the percentage of the wheat crop to be held for home consumption, and the amount to be taken over for export.

The farmer, when he delivered his wheat to the warehouses, would receive cash for the home consumed product, and a negotiable receipt for the exportable surplus.

This method of marketing would automatically restrict wheat production to the amount required for home consumption, and encourage diversified farming, James pointed out.

"The wheat raiser would receive for the 75 to 90 percent of his crop, as much as for all his crop under present methods—perhaps even more—and selling the surplus at world market prices would work a wholesome restraint on the acreage of wheat raised in this country."

Leading authorities on farm problems were present from all parts of the world when the international gathering of farmers was officially launched.

A telegram from President Coolidge to the Congress said:

"An international consideration of agricultural problems is particularly appropriate now for the agricultural crisis is, in truth, of international as well as domestic character."

The reports of the world's series between the Giants and Yankees will appear daily in the Mexia Daily News on the day the game is played. The News is first with the news and 11 hours ahead of any other newspaper coming into Me

Giants Face The Same Team As Last Year

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—New York's annual fall festival, the battle between the Giants and the Yanks for the city and world's baseball championhips, dropped today upon a slightly excited populace.

Ideal conditions, just as good as could have been ordered, prevailed and all advance indications pointed to an opening game attendance that would shatter all records.

The weather, bright and fair, was perfect for playing and for seeing the first game of the third series played between the New York National and American League pennant winners.

Pressed for statements John McGraw and Miller Huggins, managers of the rival clubs, said they were hopeful and that the change in the betting to even money represented their notion that "it was a toss up."

The only thing new about the series this year is the field of the battle for the opener which will be in the new $2,000,000 Yankee Stadium. The Yanks will act as the home club today and have charge of the cash register which will probably ring up the greatest sum that has ever been paid for one game of the

Streets Bend With Traffic For Big Game

By STEVE HANNAGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—It's circus day in New York.

The big show is on at the Yankee Stadium with John McGraw and Miller Huggins as the high hatted ringmasters.

A pale blue October sky is the top. Instead of three rings there will be only one loop—and that interest spot is a diamond.

The Yanks and Giants will perform to the whip cracking of their masters in the greatest baseball show of the season. But the poines in this tragedy get more than oats. Most anybody would be glad to garner the golden fodder they will be fed from check books at the end of the exhibition.

It may be "little ole n'Yawk's" private drama, but there are a flock of sapolios from Munico and Council Bluffs peeking over the fence—and telegraph wires will be the eyes and ears through which the homefire boys will pilfer their conversation and argument data for the base burner season.

There will be enough word battles canned this week to keep the starving fans nourished until the training season sun thaws the national pastime herces out of their winter hibernating spots next spring.

New Yorks streets, always bulging with storming traffic, were bent out of line today with the added population of baseball customers from outyonder. All that was needed to film La Fayette's spring circus day scene was a parade of red wagons and a couple of cages of mangy lions.

The first laddie to start the all night vigil at the bleacher ticket cage was Archie Yarish, 18, whiskerless and from Brooklyn. He arrived on the scene at 6:30 last evening, squatted on a soap box and waited out father time's minute pitching.

He arose from his sitting slumber, with the first rays of the sun, yawned, stretched—then sat down again. "Great day for the game," he said to the waiters augumented to fifty strong during the long night. He picks the Yankees to win. So do most of the others.

The most picturesque type on the waiting list was P. J. Rourke, 64, the sheriff of New Haven County, Connecticut. The icicles were being melted off his drooping gray moustache by the steam from his corncob boiler as he stood before the reserved seat cage—the first in that line.

All the night shift boys favored the Yankees as victors, some in four straight games, the more conservative predicting four out of six contests.

At 6:30 o'clock today—after Archie Yarish had been on duty 12 hours—the crowd began to gather and line up. The polo squad was increased. he big show began to take shape. But it was no summer pastime.

Draughts of hot coffee faded the pink circus lemonade out of sight, laprobes chased the big palm fans to the spare closet and hot puppies, garnished with ladles of mustard, answered the call of ice cream sandwiches. It was chilly enough for a gridiron scramble.

The usual circus tin band was noisily blearing out the strains of the Fruit Song from Bananaland. It doesn't look like a clown band—but listens like one till it stops.

Spengle Hero Of Winners Hits Home Run

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Giants won a baseball game today. Spengle is their hero. He knocked a home run in the ninth, no man on, which broke a tie and no scores on either side were tallied after that. It was enough. The Giants won with 5 scores while the Yankees lost with 4. Spengle came to the bat when there were two out and struck with terrific force, landing the ball in deep center. He circled the bases just in time, touching the home plate barely ahead of the ball as it was hurled home. Spengle was withdrawn by the Giants, after his great hit, having done his bit and his "do for the day."

Fair weather was on hand for the opening game. Early in the morning the sky was slightly overcast and there was a decided autumnship in the breezes of the Bronx where the contenders met in their third annual championship clash.

When the umpires growled "Play Ball," the sky had cleared and the sun had taken the bite out of the breeze, until it was an ideal baseball day.

The crowd attending the opener was estimated at 65,000.

Some of them came with overcoats on, but most of the bleacherites sat in thir shirt sleeves.

When the teams came on the field both Yankees and Giants were given great ovations. The Giant players began razzing Babe Ruth in practice.

The game was called at 2 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time, 1 p. m. Mexia.)

The umpires were Evans and Nallin for the American League and Hart and O'Day for the National League.

Speculation as to the batteries for the day ended with the announcement that for the Giants, G. Watson, Ryan and Gowdy and Snider would appear and for the Yankees, Hoyt, Bush and Schang.

The Yankees led off with one score in the first and two more in the second, while the Giants trailed behind with nothing. In the third, however, the Giants rallied and ran in four tallies, taking the lead in the initial clash.

Throughout the next three innings neither side was able to chalk up a marker. In the last of the fifth Bush made an almost impossible throw blocking Babe Ruth at home.

Groh came to the bat in the first of the sixth. With his 474 batting average of last season, the eyes of the grandstand were naturally focused on him. He went out with a fly to Babe Ruth who caught it without moving out of his tracks.

The inning ended with no runs, no hits and no errors.

For the Yankees Pitt was first up. He went out to Ryan on first base. Ward flew out to E. Meusel in left field. Schang doubled to right field. A quick throw by Young almost got him at second. Scott was out on first ball over, Bush to Kelley, the inning terminating with no runs, no hits and no errors, with the Giants favored to win.

In the seventh, the Giants failed to do anything. Ruth made a beautiful throw in this frame and stopped a double, when Kelley singled to right field. Kelly, batting 278 last year, hit into a double play, Scott to Eard to Pitts. Snider came up next batting 333 last year in 4 games and fanned.

Joe Bush was first up for the Yankees in their turn in the seventh. His batting average last year was 167 per cent. He singled to center field for his second hit of the game. Whit flew out to E. Meusel. Dugan came forward next and hit a triple past Young, scoring Bush and the score was tied.

In the eighth, neither side tallied.

With the ninth inning coming up and with the score standing Giants 4, Yankees 4, the fans settled down to witness a long fought fight. This was soon dissipated, however, when Spengle went to the home plate and knocked a home run, with no one on giving the Giants the lead by that much.

The Yanks failed to score in their time up.

John McGraw, Manager of the Giants:

"Our team this year is as good as it was last year. The pitchers are a little bit better I believe. We have a strong attack and a good defense. The breaks mean everything in a short series and while I am confident I want the Giants to realize that they have a fight and they do."

Miller Huggins, Manager of Yankees:

"We are much stronger than we were last year. The Giants caught us in a slump last fall and we never came out of it. With our pitching staff and with a most formidable batting team I feel sure that we have more than an even chance to win. We will have no alibis if we lose."

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION SOUGHT BY GEORGE

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—Lloyd George is turning his holiday into a crusade for international co-operation in the interest of world stability and peace. He is converting his tour into a demand that the allied governments accept the United States plan for settling the reparations problem. His attitude is one of strong criticism for Britain for not having brought pressure to bear on France to accept the Hughes' plan. His sudden interest is the result of the merest hint from Washington that the United States is willing to discuss the plan.

Negroes In Pennsylvania Town Warned by 500 Young Men To Leave Community

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 10.—One hundred negroes left their homes in Stokes Township following a warning issued by a vigilance committee composed of 500 young men who visited the negro homes.

The order came as the result of the murder of Thomas Rowland, 75, and attempted attack on his 11 year old old grand daughter. The negroes came here recently from the south.

The assailant of the old man is said to be a negro.

During the night doors and windows of negro homes were broken by stones hurled by unidentified persons.

'Little World Series' Opens at Kansas C.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 10.—Ideal autumn weather prevailed today for the first game of the "little world series" between the Baltimore Orioles and the Kansas City Blues.

Line up for tickets for general admission started before daybreak. A crowd of more than 30,000 will be on hand for the opening game, offirials estimated while thousands who are unable to get tirkets will be turned away.

The batteries for Kansas City will be either Shupp or Caldwell and Skiff; for Baltimore Parnham and Cobb.

GIANT DYING.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Happiness of the New York Giants as they went into the world's series with the Yankees today was dampened by reports from the Lutheran Hospital that Ralph Shinners, substitute outfielder, was not expected to live through the day.

Shinners is critically ill with typhoid influenza and it was said at the hospital this morning that he had only a fighting chance.

Investigation Of Walton Will Be First Business Considered By Oklahoma Solons

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 10.—Leading members of the Oklahoma legislature today declared investigation of Gov. J. C. Walton's administration would be the first business taken up when the solons meet in extra session here Thursday.

Replying to the offer of the governor late Tuesday night to allow his resignation as chief executive of the state to become automatically effective with the passage of an anti-klan bill, submitted by the administration, W. D. McBee, unofficial House leader, declared the House would adhere to its plan for investigation of the administration.

In making the offer, announced after an all day session at the executive mansion here yesterday, Governor Walton declared he was willing to step down as governor of the State upon the passage of the anti-klan measure. However, he declared, in event the legislators maintained their course toward an investigation of his administration with the probable view of launching impeachment proceedings, we would fight "to the last ditch." "If the legislature will pass the bill the fight will be over: if they attempt to pass the buck and promise an anti-klan bill after they have completed an investbation of my administration, the fight will be on and I will be in it" the Governor declared.

The text of the anti-klan bill submitted by the Governor follows:

Section 1. On or before the first day of January of each year after the approval of this act, it shall be the duty of each and every organization within this State to file with the county clerk of each county where the principal or a branch office of said organization may be located or in each county where any of its members may reside, a full and complete list of the names and addresses of all officers and members of such organizations duly certified by the officials of such organizations, provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to industrial organizations, industrial unions, farm and labor organizations and other organizations which have for their purpose the economic betterment and which are not organized with the professed purpose of assisting in the enforcement of any of the criminal laws of this State or the supression of crime and providing further that this section shall not apply to any school society.

DRINKING BANNED

Yale has fallen in line with a score of other leading colleges in banning drinking in its buildings. Violation will mean dismissal President Angell has told the students. Personal views will have no weight with the president. Liquor must go.

Similar announcements have been made the past two years from other centers of learning. It is an unmistakable indication that faculties of American colleges are determined to foster the highest moral tone possible among students. The college is a vital center of Americanism. Disrespect for law learned there, and tolerated by officials, would be a blow at a fundamental institution.

MEDICINE'S VICTORY

Medical science has achieved another victory and anthrax, a serious disease, has been eliminated from the maladies that afflict the human race.

Horsehair shaving brushes have been found to be the cause of anthrax's spread. When the disease was at its height in the years 1919 and 1920 medical men who were studying the plague went into the open market and bought various kinds of shaving brushes which they suspected of carrying the deadly germ. Those made of horsehair, when examined, were found to contain the anthrax germ in seven percent of the cases. Legislation was called in to aid the serum which was devised to combat the disease and the manufacture of horsehair shaving brushes has been generally banned.

The legislators who thus cooperated with the findings of science are to be commended. This same sort of close cooperation should always exist between the scientist and the lawmaker. When the former finds that the public health can be improved by eliminating certain factors in our daily life the solon should lend his prompt and sympathetic aid.

BILLION DOLLAR PAYROLLS

One person out of every twelve over the age of sixteen in the United States is on the public payroll, and as a result taxpayers are called upon to provide a salary schedule of four billion dollars a year. The figures were compiled by the National Industrial Conference board and are generally accepted as accurate.

Figures of such stupendous proportions are worthy of considerable study, especially in view of the fact that even the government itself admits that public business is not run on a strictly economical basis. The figures, of course, include every branch of governmental work—federal, state, county and city. Yet even this does not seem to clarify the atmosphere. The question is: Just how much is necessary and just how much is unnecessary. How much is the outcome of duplication, inactive departments and, last but not least, political plums.

There is no cause for undue alarm, however, for the nation as a whole seems to be prospering even under this yoke, which would wreck the average European nation. But with all the money that is being spent on investigating commissions, might it not be a good idea to spend a little more and determine just where the leaks are?

ROYAL HOSPITALITY

Hospitality for officials visiting London probably will be greatly limited in the future if the announcement of the manner of conducting the coming conferences of the Dominion premiers goes for anything. Instead of being incessantly wined and dined officials will be asked to attend but a few state banquets, and these will be much more simple than has been the rule in the past.

This idea of simplified entertaining originated with the premiers themselves who let it be known that there is a limit to their physical endurance. Experience in this country where distinguished visitors have succumbed to the strain of attempting to follow too strenuous programs indicates that a similar restriction on banquets and social functions might work with satisfaction to all concerned.

Lloyd George knows. Ask him.

LITTLE FOXES

Known to all Rotarians is the story of Paul P. Harris, a Chicago lawyer, who several years ago when he was lonesome for the fellowship of other men arranged that several of the men he knew would meet for an hour of recreation and profit. The members of the organization met in their various offices going around in rotation, and so the name Rotary Club was chosen. Now there are Rotary clubs in nearly all the principal cities in the world, an outgrowth of the idea of one man for curing loneliness.

One day Charles Apelt in southwest Texas killed an armadillo. He tried to flatten out the animal's shell, unable to do this he left it in the sun, when he returned he saw that the shell had curled up into a basket-like shape. There was born that day a new industry, now employing about fifty men and fifty dogs, kept busy killing armadillos. And Mr. Apelt receives orders from nearly every country in the world for his armadillo baskets.

It is surprising to read that the professional and capable begger in our larger cities makes from $15 to $500 a day from the small change the passer-byers give him.

Louis F. Butler, president of the Trevelers Insurance Co., is quoted as saying that five times as many accident claims are paid to people who are injured right in their own homes by such little things as scissors, rugs on polished floors, or light fixtures, as are paid to people injured in railroad and steamship travel.

Largely Attended Missionary Meeting And Splendid Program Feature Meeting of Methodists

The District Meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Corsicana District of the Methodist church met at Corsicana Monday. The session was reported as the most largely attended in the history of the church and delegates from here report a most profitable meeting.

Delegates were present from practically every woman's Missionary Society in the district and a program of unusual interest and educational value was carried out in the allday session. It was held in the First Methodist church. At noon dinner was served in the church.

Kerens was selected as the next meeting place, in a closely contested race. Coolidge and Groesbeck were also contenders for the 1924 meeting.

The program consisted of inspirational addresses, excellent music and good reports from practically every society of the district.

Mrs. J. W. Davis of Corsicana, District Secretary called the meeting to order at 10 o'clock and presided throughout the day. The meeting was opened with singing "Close to Thee," which was followed by a devotional service led by Mrs. Mary McClure of Corsicana. After another song by the conference, Mrs. Lynne Wortham called the roll.

The District Secretary then submitted her report in which she stated that in this district there were 17 auxiliaries, 777 adult members, 6 young people's auxilaries with 46 members and 5 juniors societies with 50 members.

Mrs. Joe Turk of Corsicana followed with a vocal selection.

Mrs. J. H. Stewart, of Temple, President of the Woman's Missionary Society of Central Texas, gave a very splendid address which was followed by another song.

Mrs. E. W. Potter, recording secretary of the Waxahachie District, had charge of the quiet hour and also delivered an inspirational talk.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was called to order at 1 o'clock and following the singing of two songs by the audience the devotional service was led by Mrs. A. W. Rogers.

H. F. Barnett former resident of Corsicana but now superintendent of the Methodist Orphans Home in Waco was introduced and made a most interesting talk concerning the orphanage. Mr. Barnett said that he came to bring good tidings of the home and that the home had enjoyed one of the best years in its history. He stated that the home now had over $500,000 in property and that there were 301 children in thehome and added that there were 300,000 Methodist parents in the state of Texas who would never allow these children to suffer. The speaker also took occasion to pay a compliment to Mrs. Abe Mulkey who "gave her life and that of her husband for this institution." Mr. Barnett's talk was very much enjoyed. Mrs. Abe Mulkey also made a short talk concerning the activities of the home.

At the conclusion of these two talks Mrs. H. H. Flemming, leader of the First Methodist church choir, accompanied by Mrs. Eugenia Story, rendered a vocal selection which was very much enjoyed.

The mission study was conducted by Mrs. J. F. Stewart during which it was announced that Miss Mary Smith Monk, daughter of the pastor of the First Methodist church, had voluntered for missionary service Miss Monk made a short talk.

A letter from Miss Alice Alsup, missionary to China was read by Mrs. C. C. Albritton and Mrs. J. S. Callicutt discussed the Belle H. Bennett Memorial after which the adudience joined in singing "To the Work."

The delegates' hour was conducted by Mrs. W. G. Bailey of Groesbeck. Supplies were discussed by Mrs. H. B. Clark of Dawson; Importance of Junior Work by Mrs. W. B. Landrum of Mexia; Benefits Derived from Missionary Study by Mrs. T. L. Longbotham of Wortham; How To Interest Women in Bible Study by Mrs. Riggs of Coolidge; Social Service by Mrs. E. W. Warnell of Corsicana. Rev. C. A. Bickley presiding elder, also made a short talk as well as did the Rev. Alonzo Monk, Jr., pastor of the First Methodist church of Corsicana.

Wortham received the banner for the best missionary society of the year.

Mrs. Beaton and Mrs. Miller were introduced by Mrs. Callicutt as pioneers in the missionary society work in Navarro county. The Rev. H. P. Shrader was introduced by the Rev. Mr. Monk. Mrs. W. D. Haynie of Rice and Mrs. Abe Mulkey, prominent in church work of the county for many years were also introduced to the audience. The ministers of the district, of which there were twenty-two attending the meeting, were also presented to the audience.

Mrs. T. L. Longbotham of Wortham, chairman of the resolutions committee, thanked the women of the church for the excellent lunch served and the ministers and other speakers for their inspiring talks. Following the singing of the song "Best Be the Tie" the Rev. E. W. Potter of Waxahachie gave the benediction.

Freak Calls Bring Houston Firemen

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 10.—Daily entries are being made in the Houston Fire Department's book of "freak calls."

Among the recent ones are:

"I want you to chase some pigeons out of my attic" a woman told firemen who made a hurry call to her suburban home.

At another address a housekeeper was fighting bedbugs with a torch. A nervous neighbor pulled the fire alarm.

Mosquitoes caused insomnia in a rooming house. A roomer built a fire on the floor to smoke 'em out. Firemen saved part of the furniture.

AMERICAN LEGION POST IS AGAIN "AT HOME"

Sergeant Hawk is again on the job at the Nowlin Post Headquarters of the American Legion. The Post suffered some loss and considerable handicap several months ago in the fire which swept the lower floor of the Houx building in which the organization is located. The necessary renovation was made possible through gifts made by Jack Womack, Jesse McLendon, E. L. Smith and Blake Smith, for which the members of the Legion are grateful. All visiting Legionnaires are urged to visit the handsomely appointed club rooms, take advantage of the reading and rest room; and get acquainted with some of the local members who "drop in" for a social hour.

Listening by long distance telephone from Boston to the tolling of several bells at Troy, N. Y., enabled a church committee deputed to purchase a bell to make a decision without the expense of a trip to the factory.

BLACK CATS TO MEET WORTHAM ON GRIDIRON FRIDAY

Wortham will be the next victims of prey for the Mexia Hi Black Cats. The local eleven will play Wortham here Friday Oct. 12 at Nowlin Park. The game will be called at 3:45, according to Coach Poteet.

Thus far the locals have played two games on the gridiron winning both. In the first game they defeated the Mart Hi eleven by a score of 7 to 0. The second game was also won by the locals defeating the strong Dawson team 26 to 0.

Two of the members of the squad are out with injuries and it is most probable that they will be out for the remainder of the season. Buddie Storey broke his right shoulder in practice Monday afternoon. Buddie played a part of the Dawson game on right end. Buddie hurt his shoulder in the first part of practice and was laid out for a week or more. He then had a bad case of blood poison and then this late accident put him in a condition that will no doubt prove that he has played his last year of high school football. Maurice Robinson fractured his collarbone in the scrimmage Monday afternoon and will be out of the game for perhaps the remainder of the season.

Coach Poteet will likely start his regular line up with the exception of Storey on end who will be replaced by Paris or Lucas. Omar and Oral Seely will be the choice for guard positions more than likely. Thompson will be used at right tackle. If Thomas McNutt does not get back in time for the game Wayne Lucas may draw the nomination for left tackle. Perkinson and Paris will start on ends provided that McNutt does not return thus placing Lucas at tackle. Herman Adam will be used at the pivot of the line. In the backfield he will use Clover at quarter, Cox at full and Kendrick and M. Williams at halves.

Coach Poteet announces that the prices for Friday's game will be 15 and 25 cents. He is trying to see how many they can get out for the battle to back the Cats. Tickets will be sold by the students through the Pep club. Many interesting features will be popped by the Pep club and there is wind of a big shirt tail parade by the boys through the down town district that night.

Age-worn and time-proven axioms that dope is never infallible and that nothing is certain in baseball make complicated this fall the process of arriving at some accurate forecast on the result of the 1923 world's series.

With the same two teams almost man for man that engaged in the two past series, the dope, but for its known tendency to get off the track at times, would indicate that the New York Giants would be a safe bet to win another world's championship at the expense of their Bronx rivals.

On the basis of form and past performances, the most approved method of doping, the Yankees have only a small chance to trun the tables and beat the team that won rather easily from them in 1921 and made them look saps in 1922.

In personnel and the basis machanics of baseball, the Yanks are no better this year than they were last year. Their biggest asset is the same superiority in pitching that was expected to overcome the Giants last fall and which failed miserably to do it.

In the flesh it is the same Yankee team, the same players, the same style of game and same erratic temperament, but in morale and spirit, it is a vastly different ball club that will try to live up to the good things expected of it in 1921 and 1922.

Although superficial judgement would justify the belief that the Yanks are too old a ball club to stir themselves out of the beaten path that led them to two fine trimmings, many wise baseball fans are picking the American League champions to beat the Giants because of the stability, the harmony and the winning spirit they displayed in running away with their third straight pennant.

The Yanks did show a most impressive change in temperament from the very first day of the season. It was apparent that they considered the business of winning the pennant a very serious proposition in which the financial end was too important to permit of laxity in training or in playing.

With Babe Ruth setting a most exemplary style of living and paying close attention to business, the Yanks subordinated petty feelings, broke up factional cliques and worked in harmony for a common cause.

It is the change in morale and the cultivation of a winning spirit that will bring the Yankees to their first world's championship—if they do get there.

Another important factor to consider in figuring the chances of the Yankees is the known fact that from the early part of the season, when it began to appear certain that nothing but bad luck or injuries could keep them out of the world's series, the club has been living, playing and planning only to beat the Giants and vindicate themselves.

The Yankees felt, individually and collectively, the deepest humiliation over the sorry showing they made in the series last year, when the best they could do was to get a tie in one game. They felt that they were not only a better club than they looked, but that they were a better team than the Giants. They claimed they were caught in a slump that came as a reaction after the hard fight they had to win the pennant and that the Giants found them in the state of a general let-down.

Granting that the team might have been in a general slump, that the star pitchers were disheartened by the lack of support and that the whole team was stale, the American League champions ought to be in better shape this year because they had more than two weeks to break the strain after they had won the pennant and the same time in which to prepare themselves for the pennant.

Perhaps the strain, which forced the Giants to go their limit until almost the last minute of the season, will have the same effect that it worked on the Yankees last year, although John McGraw has said in the past that he preferred to keep his club going at top speed instead of allowing them to let down and then getting them back on edge again.

Managers and players of rival clubs in the American League have expressed the opinion that the Yanks are a greatly improved ball club and they pointed out that the easy victory of the New Yorkers in the pennant race was not due to any real decrease in the strength of the contending clubs, but was the result of the great improvement in the champions.

While everything depends upon the mental factor on the Yankee team, it will be of no importance with the Giants. Two impressive victories over the Yanks will give the National League champions a mental edge over their opponents and will of necessity increase the confidence that they might lack with such mediocre pitching.

Having been victorious in two battles behind the same kind of pitching, having had little trouble with the star pitchers of the Yanks and having stopped the great Babe Ruth plenty, the Giants will not need to be put through any mental exercises by McGraw.

The Giants can be depended upon to outsmart the Yanks if it comes to a battle of brains, and it was quick thinking and spontaneous action that turned the tide in two of the games last fall when the Yankees gave evidence of having left their brains in the club house. McGraw's team always play smart baseball because they take orders on every play from the bench and it is not to the discredit of Miller Huggins to give McGraw credit for more baseball brains. He has more baseball knowledge than any manager of all time.

Position by position, the Giants and the Yankees are not badly matched.

JOHN BARRYMORE'S NEW FILM ROLE

John Barrymore, whose screen appearances have been marked by quality rather than quantity, is to be seen at the Grand theatre today in a characterization which he has declared to be the most interesting he has ever made—none other than fiction's greatest detective—Sherlock Holmes.

"Sherlock Holmes" was directed by Al Parker. Perhaps no other character in fiction is so universally liked and known, and from all indications, the same universal interest is attaching itself to the picturization of the famous detective story. Aside from the magnet of having so distinguished an actor essay the stellar role, the supporting cast has been chosen with such definite care and detail, that it reads like a roster of the best known players of the stage and screen. In fact, the making of the picture was delayed until every character down to the most unimportant super, was perfectly cast.

In the cast of players occur such distinguished names as Carol Dempster, who plays the role of Alice Faulkner; Roland Young, who is the faithful Watson, and Gustave von Seyffertitz, who gives an amazing portrait of the despicable Professor Moriarty. Hedda Hopper, Anders Randolf Percival Knight, Lumsden Hare, Louis Wolheim, John Willard and Reginald Denny are also in the roster.

C. C. Directors Take Up Subject Of Improving Unpaved Streets At Meeting In City Hall Tuesday

Eleven directors attended the meeting of the board of the Mexia Chamber of Commerce in the office in the City Hall at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. In the absence of President John H. Sweatt, First Vice President, L. S. Patterson presided over the meeting.

Two matters of importance were discussed, one of which was some arrangement to clean the paved streets. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that this should be done for the purpose of abating the dust nuisance, as the merchants complain that dust damages their stocks, as a protection to the pavement and as a measure of sanitation to safe guard the health of the community. It was also the opinion of those present that this should be done by the city and a committee composed of Gene Sinclair, chairman, J. W. Prickett and Phil Karner was appointed to attend the next meeting of the City Commission and urge the City Government to take some prompt measure to clean the paved streets.

The condition of North Belknap street, from Commerce to Carthage and that portion of Carthage street extending to Denton, and Denton street from Carthage to the city limits (the same being a connection with the Tehuacana road,) was next brought up for discussion. It was reported to the meeting that the County Commissioner was ready to improve the Tehuacana road connecting with this street, provided the City would surface this street with crushed rock or gravel or otherwise improve it, and it was the opinion of those present that as this is the road to Tehuacana, Coolidge and Waco that it was important that this should be done and the Committee above appointed was instructed to include this proposition in their petition to the City Commission. It was pointed out in the discussion that North Belknap street and Carthage street especially become practically impassable after any amount of rain, and this connection with the Tehuacana road is regarded as one of the principal feeders for Mexia trade.

Other routine matters were discussed, the secretary made a report on the progress of negotiations between the City Commission and the local Light and Power company looking toward a downward revision in the rate charge for light and power.

Attention of the meeting was called to the Baby Show promoted by the local Elks lodge and as it was the opinion of the directors that this would likely bring some trade to Mexia and create a general interest, the resolution was unanimously passed commending Exalted Ruler Frank C. Bolton and the Elks lodge and instructing the secretary's office to cooperate with them in every way possible.

The report of Secretary Stollenwerck regarding the cotton mill conference in Dallas Saturday, Oct. 6th will be covered in a separate article in Thursday's News.

An Unsolved Disappearance

By E. H. WOLFF

In every big city, but none, there stands out vividly in its Police History certain stories, tales and happenings which are always referred to as landmarks wherever a similar event takes place. If there is a kidnaping it is referred to as mysterious as the such and such case of twenty years ago; if a sensational murder it is also referred back to a certain previous murder, or other crime, which stands as a landmark in crime's bloody history. For a generation the Charley Ross kidnaping case was the talk of the nation; there have been countless kidnaping since then but the Ross case stands out like mars at parihelion; like a beacon light in New York harbor as a class by itself. The Harry Thaw case stands out cleraly within our memory as an incident replete with startling disclosures and strange happenings of a big city. So, as I say, every city has the one particular case which stands out boldly, defying time to erase the memory and no later crime, it seems, can quite eclipse the landmark, which usually grows more vivid as time goes on.

The little story I am about to tell concerns a young man, whom we shall refer to as Dick Smith. A young man working in a commercial establishment in a large California city. Early one morning he was sent to the bank to cash a check as he had done regularly for years; he disappeared that morning between his office and the bank—no one saw him after that day, he never arrived at the bank, the check remains uncashed to this day; he handled no money; nothing was missing. In fact, after months of close investigation not one hair was ever found that would throw light upon his utter and complete disappearance. No one has ever turned up after almost thirty years to throw any light on where or why he went—he disappeared like a rock thrown into the bay. Unfinished work at the office indicated he would soon return—he left the office without hat or coat which proves he had intended to return; a full dinner bucket indicated his intention to return for had he willfully and deliberately planned to disappear it is not likely he would report for work as usual and bring his dinner; nobody was ever found in the bay or ocean; not a clue ever developed and it is quite possible the event will remain forever as great a mystery as the morning he disappeared.

Ed Borraw, business manager of the Yanks, announced that all the reserved seats for the three Yankee games had been sold and that he was sure the 36,000 unreserved seats placed on sale at 10 o'clock would be sold before noon. The crowd probably will reach 65,000.

Squads of garden manicurists worked all day and all night on the playing ground and this morning there were only a few spots in the turf to show where cowpunchers had helped steers and broncs tear up the sod at the rodeo several weeks ago.

With some obvious pleasure Miller Huggins announced this morning that the same team which ran away with the American League pennant would face the Giants. Wally Pipp, with his improved ankle, will hold down first base and Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel will have the flank positions in the outfield.

Neither Huggins nor McGraw would say anything definitely about their pitching selection but it was considered almost sure that the opening game would be a left handed battle between Art Nehf and Herb Pennock, the leading portsiders of the two clubs. Schang will be behind the bat for the Yanks and either Snyder or Gowdy for the Giants.

Commissioner Landis ordered Billy Evans, in charge of the umpires today, to have his staff on the field at 1:50. They are 12 ground rules to be explained all around and with ten minutes it is figured that the game will start promptly at 2:00 o'clock.

Landis also told the umpires that the commissioner, a representative and the manager of each club would decide when the field was in condition to be played upon but the umpire behind the plate will have to decide how long a game is to be continued under adverse conditions.

The umpires maintain that it will be the hardest series to call ever played because of the shadows in both the stadium and the polo grounds. They claim that it is almost impossible to judge a low ball accurately after four o'clock.

Probable line-up:

Giants	Yankees
Bancroft, ss	Witt, cf
Groh, 3b	Dugan, 3b
Frisch, 2b	Ruth, lf
Young, rf	Pipp, 1b
E. Meusel, lf	R. Meusel, rf
Cunningham, cf	Ward, 2b
Kelly, 1b	Schang, c
Synder, c	Scott, ss
Nehf, p	Pennock, p

Umpires: Evans, behind the plate. O'Day on first base. Nallin on second base. Hart on third base.

Women Adopt the Colorful Knitted Tie from the Masculine Fashion

With the tremendous growth of the vogue for knitted outerwear this fall, the knitted tie has found its place in the feminine mode, and is now being adapted to the blouse worn with the tailored suit, the slip-on sweater, the knitted jacquette and the figured silk blouse worn so gracefully beneath the strappings of the new peasant frocks.

Perhaps the most significant feature of this new boyish toggery for women is the beautiful colorings. From Egypt have been borrowed subtle blendings of old red, gold, bronze and pottery blue, cleverly knitted into diagonally striped designs. There are new tones of blue and severely simple patterns almost classic in design.

The newest knitted ties have the popular open ends received so well by the masculine element. And the ties especially adapted to women's blouses are considerably shorter in length, despite the fact that they are purchased at the same counter where brother buys his.

A maroon tie of silk and cotton mixture is a combination which the dark-eyed girl should not overlook in selecting her sports clothes. The business girl may accent the jauntiness of her tailor-made by the addition of a pretty knitted tie for her blouse collar. And the college girl can show her loyalty to her alma mater in no more personally attractive way than choosing her college hues in the knitted tie which she wears at college sports occasions.

One is at a loss to name the new shades developed in these ties by their old-fashioned tints. One is not certain whether the Oriental shades of red are really in the classification of old rose, or if the greens and wood browns used separately or in combinations are not the nearest reproductions of nature's own palette we have ever attained.

For the jagged collars of the figured silk peasant blouses now used with the cunning jumper frocks, designers are taking the knitted tie as a finishing touch. Where the blouse boasts an intricate design, the tie should be of a suitable plain color. Where the blouse is in a solid color, one may select the most intricate design for the tie. This rule should be followed in selecting the new knitted tie so as to avoid ineffective conglomeration of patterns.

Old gold flowers are knitted into a dark brown silk tie and worn with a blouse of faint yellow. The three shades of yellow lend a new costume note to what we once knew as the shirtwaist.

To brighten up your last season's topcoat, just add a bit of color at the neckline of your blouse. Tangerine diagonally striped with old blue, violet with a touch of green, biscuit with old gold and orange stripings or a neatly figured pattern knitted in two shades of your favorite color, will do wonders toward making a passé costume look quite new and up-to-date.

FELT TIRED, SO TIRED

Indiana Lady Says She Was Run-Down, Suffered With Her Back, Took Cardui, and Got Well.

Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, 31 Railroad Street, this city.

"I was all run-down until my family thought they would lose me," writes Mrs. Courtney. "My husband coaxed me to take Cardui, so, to please him, I did, and will say I do not regret it, for I am able to do all my work and do my shopping.

"I have five children, four in school, my husband and a boarder to do for, and I do all my own work for all of us, and find time to play. We all praise Cardui. Every sick and run-down woman should take this wonderful medicine.

"I suffered with my back; a very weak feeling in my limbs.

"I felt hardly able to drag; just tired—so tired all the time.

"It was an effort for me to do anything, but Cardui helped me so I felt like a different woman."

If you are in a run-down physical condition, suffering as this Indiana lady says she did, give Cardui a fair trial. It should help you.

Take Cardui. NC-147

ALL men aren't equal and neither are all valve cups. Far from it.

Two of either may look alike at the start. It's only after they've been going awhile that the difference hits you between the eyes.

You see then that genuine Darcova Valve Cups are putting oil in the pipe line after the other cups have worn out. While you are pulling out and recupping the other valves at a big expense of time, labor and lost oil, the Darcova Cups are working along as well as ever and earning good money for you.

You want trustworthy men and those trustworthy Darcova Valve Cups. It pays to be particular.

C. A. PUCKETT FIRST SPEAKER AT FIRST WEEKLY LUNCHEON TO GIVEN BY AMERICAN LEGION

About twenty members of American Legion and Auxiliary assembled at the first weekly luncheon of Nowlin Post at the headquarters of the local post Tuesday at 12:15. It was an occasion that was greatly enjoyed by everyone in attendence, who were pleased with the start made. It was voted to continue the luncheon idea and the programs each time will be worthy of the organization and worth while, according to an announcement by Post Commander Owen F. Watkins who presided.

The luncheon was arranged and supervised by members of the Auxiliary of the Nowlin Post and each plate was served at a cost of fifty cents. A splendid luncheon was provided. The program included a few minutes of fraternizing prior to the Mess Call. At the conclusion of mess, Commander Watkins introduced C. A. Puckett, superintendent of Mexia schools to discuss any subject he desired. He was introduced as a veteran himself, a member of the American Legion and a man insympathy with the spirit of the patriotic organization. His address was appreciated and indicated the happy relation that exists here between the schools and the Legion.

He said, in part:

The American Legion came into being for the purpose of keeping proper ideals of American citizenship ever before the American people. In time of war human nature naturally responds to the call of patriotism, but in the "piping times of peace" we forget. The routine of every day existence forces into the background of our consciousness the things which meant so much in times of stress.

The Legion, therefore, seeing the necessity for keeping the proper ideals of democracy before the American people, took up that responsibility and since that time it has been "on the job" every minute. It has demanded that you and I love our country, obey its laws and respect its flag. It has gone further than that—it has furnished inspiration and aid to the public schools in their effort to train the children of our land in citizenship.

The Legion has emphasized the responsibility which we have inherited from our forefathers in the matter of training our children. The Legion is trying to bring us to fully realize the fact that through our schools the future of our nation may be determined. The Legion points out the fact that Germany prostituted her educational system to the whim of a mad monarch and taught her children to hate the perverted doctrines of "Kultur;" that Russia provided no education at all for her people and Russia is now in the throes of anarchy. And so, day after day, the American Legion is selling the idea to the people that a nation which would survive must look well to the education of its youth.

In carrying out its program the American Legion is furnishing aid and inspiration to those of us in the schools who are striving to train the children to love our country, obey its laws and respect its flag. For this inspiration we are very thankful and we turn to our task with renewed vigor. We would have every child from the tiny kindergartner to the oldest high school student thoroughly conversant with the customs, usages, laws and traditions of our country. We would implant in each child's heart a love of country that will never die. We would imbue him with a partiotism which would never let him forget our flag and those things for which it stands.

We would have each child leave school with the message of Colonel Alvin M. Owsley, National Commander of the American Legion to the school boys of America ringing in his ears and burning in his heart:

"When you see the Stars and Stripes displayed, son, stand up and take off your hat. Somebody may titter. It is in the blood of some to deride all expression of noble sentiment. You may blaspheme in the street and stagger drunken in public places, and the bystanders will not pay much attention to you, but if you should get down on your knees and pray to Almighty God, or if you should stand bareheaded while a company of old soldiers marches by with flags to the breeze, most people will think you are showing off.

But don't you mind. When Old Glory comes along, salute, and let them think what they please. When the band plays The Star Spangled Banner in a restaurant or hotel dining room, get up, even if you rise alone; stand there, and don't be ashamed of it, either.

Don't be ashamed when your throat chokes and the tears come when you see the flag flying from the masts of our ships on the great seas or floating from every flagstaff of the Republic. You will never have a worthier emotion. For of all the signs and symbols since the world began there is none so full of meaning as the flag of this country.

Other flags mean a glorious past; this flag means a glorious future. It is not so much the flag of our fathers as it is the flag of our children, and of countless children yet unborn. It is the flag of tomorrow, the signal of the "Good time coming." It is not the flag of your king; it is the flag of yourself and your neighbors.

Your flag stands for humanity, for an equal opportunity to all the sons of men. Of course, we have not yet arrived at that goal; injustice still dwells among us; senseless and cruel customs of the past still cling to us, but the flag leads the way to righting the wrongs of men.

Our flag is the world's symbol of liberty! That piece of red, white and blue bunting means five thousand years of struggle upwards. It is the full-grown flower of generations fighting for liberty. It is the century plant of human hope in bloom."

That, ladies and gentlemen, is what the American Legion stands for and that is what we are trying to teach your children.

The telegraph poles are now being put up along the new railroad. Carter Sessions is the contractor for this part of the work.

Jesse Denning has the contract for wood work on the new depot and will push the work as fast as possible.

Editorial.—A married man sent the following testimonial to a medicine company: "My wife took a bottle of your medicine and died. I am married again. Please send me another bottle."

Wortham, Texas, Oct. 7.—Mr. T. J. Red, one of Freestone county's best citizens, fell dead in the cotton field yesterday about 1 o'clock. Mr. Red was about 58 years old. Cause of death was heart failure.

Parties who have been in the country west of here report that in some fields cotton is blooming and putting on very nicely. If frost stays off long enough these blooms will make cotton—if the bugs don't get it.

Coyote Killed In City of Abilene

ABILENE, Texas, Oct. 10.—Abilene's city ways apparently held no terror for a coyote that strayed into town recently.

The animal was spied by Jack Reece, motorcycle officer, who at once gave chase.

The coyote led the officer by devious routes through the western part of the city. As the intruder fled before the snorting motorcycle, other persons joined in the chase.

Just as the coyote reached an open space near the city limits, Neece opened up his engine, sped along side the terrified animal and killed it with a shot from his pistol.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS,

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Limestone County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. R. Alford by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Limestone County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Groesbeck, Texas, on the first Monday in November A. D. 1923, the same being the 5th day of November A. D. 1923, then and there to answer an amended petition filed in said Court on the 4th day of October, A. D. 1923, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 2456, wherein Berry Barnett Grocery Company, a corporation, is plaintiff, and N. F. Ferguson, J. A. Underwood, C. B. Jackson and J. R. Alford are defendants, said petition alleging that N. R. Ferguson, J. A. Underwood and C. B. Jackson are partners and doing business under the firm name of Commercial Hotel Company, and J. R. Alford was doing business under the trade name of the Rex Cafe; that plaintiff at the special instance and request of the defendant, Commercial Hotel Company sold to them on the several dates specified in an account certain goods, wares and merchandise being groceries needed in running said business; that in consideration of the sale of said goods, defendant promised to pay therefor the amount charged in said account, being $604.20; that on October 14, 1921, plaintiff at the instance and request of defendant Rex Cafe sold and delivered to it goods, wares and merchandise which said Rex Cafe agreed to pay to the amount charged therefor same being $620.68, that said cafe was run by J. R. Alford until December 16, 1921, when he sold an interest in said cafe to the Commercial Hotel Company; that at that time said cafe owed this plaintiff the sum of $589.33; that on or about December 16, 1921, J. R. Alford doing business under the name of Rex Cafe being indebted to the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company in the sum of $573.91 the said N. R. Ferguson, and J. R. Alford represented to plaintiff that the said sum of $573.91 would not have to be paid within thirty days if he, the said Ferguson, would purchase an interest in the Rex Cafe; that said Commercial Hotel Company would pay said $573.91 within thirty days; plaintiff agreed to said contract and in pursuance thereof the said Ferguson, Underwood and Jackson purchased an interest in said Cafe and in consideration therefor promised to pay plaintiff and the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company the amount mentioned. That the said J. R. Alford transferred to the Mexia Commercial Hotel Company an interest in the Rex Cafe and placed them in possession thereof.

Plaintiff would show to the Court that on November 8, 1921, and January 13, 1922, the Mexia Wholesale Company sold and delivered to the Rex Cafe certain goods, wares and merchandise being groceries for which said Cafe agreed to pay the amount set out in said account the total being the sum of $620.26; that J. R. Alford at that time was the owner of said Cafe, the said Alford being indebted to a number of persons among whom was the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company who sold to said Commercial Hotel Company the said Rex Cafe, agreed to pay said Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company the indebtedness that the Rex Cafe then owed the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company. And afterwards incurred debts to the amount of $106.35 which it promised to pay the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company. That afterwards the manager of the Rex Cafe gave to said Grocery Company its check for $492.71 which check was turned down and not paid. That on January 14, 1922, said Hotel Company gave a check to said Wholesale Grocery Company for the sum of $106.35 which check was turned down. Plaintiff would show that it has purchased of said Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company for a valuable consideration the indebtedness due said Grocery Company from the Rex Cafe and the Commercial Hotel and the same has not yet been paid and plaintiff is entitled to recover said account.

That all of the said accounts are due and unpaid, and the defendants and each of them have refused to pay any part to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $1845.14.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays the court that defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition; that upon a trial hereof they have judgment for said $1845.14 with interest cost of suit, and such other and further relief, as it may be entitled.

Herein Fail Not, and have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

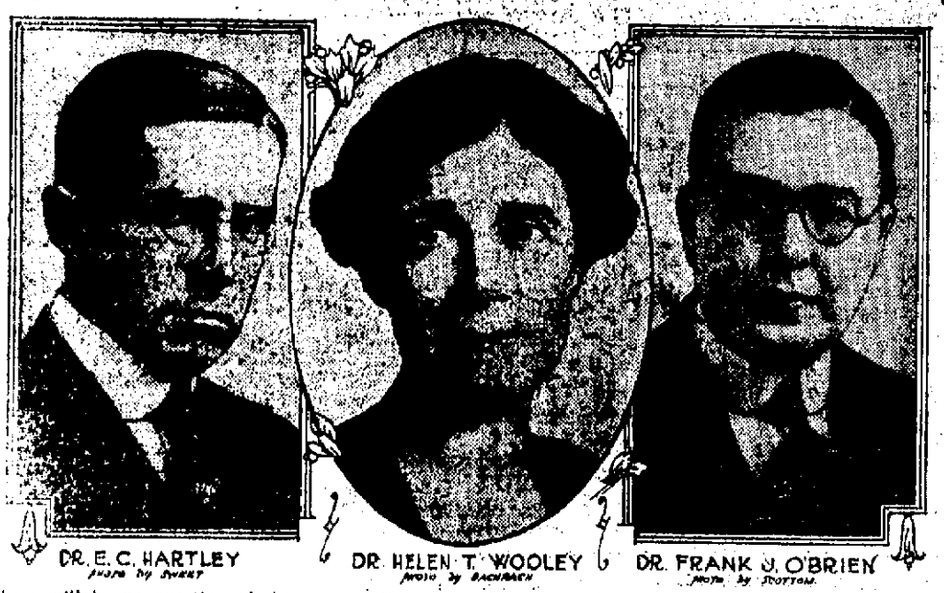
Child Health Advocates Will Hear Discussion of All Their Problems At Association's Annual Meeting



DR. E. C. HARTLEY DR. HELEN T. WOOLEY DR. FRANK J. O'BRIEN

There will be no question of the ability of speakers at the first annual meeting of the American Child Health Association—scheduled for Detroit, from October 15 to 27 inclusive—to discuss the subjects assigned to them. Each is a specialist in his or her particular field and each will have the experience of years of activity and close study as a background for what is said.

Three of these eminent experts are shown above. They are Dr. E. C. Hartley, director of child hygiene of the Minnesota State Board of Health; Dr. Helen T. Wooley, psychologist of the Merrill-Palmer school, Detroit (in center); and Dr. Frank J. O'Brien, of the Psychological Clinic, Louisville, Kentucky. Others whose names appear on the program and who will be heard with marked attention by more than six hundred who will attend the conference of the United States and from some foreign countries.

Dr. Hartley has chosen as his subject one with which the convention is vitally concerned. It will be "The Rural Mother; Effective Methods of Increasing Her Interest and Co-operation in Improving the Health of Her Family." This Minnesota official has given much time to this phase of his department's work and is conceded to be one of the country's foremost authorities on it.

"Habit Formation; Health Formation for School Life" will be Dr. Wooley's subject. Through her contact with the Merrill-Palmer School she has specialized in this branch of child health work.

In speaking on "The Psychological Background of Health Teaching," Dr. O'Brien will urge upon the delegates the necessity for a thorough treatment of subjects. Not only the physical and mental ailments must be carefully rectified, he will contend, but broader questions, such as environment and the health of other members of the family, must be considered.

This will be the first national convention of the American Child Health Association, which was organized last Winter by the merging of the American Child Hygiene Association and the Child Health Organization of America. Herbert Hoover is the president of the Association, which has as its purpose the betterment of the health of America's childhood. It deals with every phase of this question, from the pre-natal period through the pre-school and school ages.

Administrative offices of the Association are at 370 Seventh Avenue, New York City, while national headquarters is maintained at 532 Seventeenth Street, Washington, D. C.

HOME DRESSMAKING

By JEANNE ROLAND
(Copyright 1928 by Pen-Art Service, Inc.)

Overhanging Sleeve Notes of Autumn Modes

The Capelet Coat Dress Is Smart

Some venturesome souls might select bright green or flame color for the lining and their choice would be the last word in fashion. Whatever color is used for the cape lining is repeated in the narrow front panel of the skirt. The V-shaped front is trimmed with embroidery and this trimming feature is repeated on the narrow string belt of self-material.

The sleeves are long and close-fitting at the wrist, and trimmed with fancy buttons. The figure shows how the sleeve is finished on the wrong side. Between three and four inches of the seam should be left unstitched to provide an opening for the hand to pass through. The right side of the seam is then turned down and hemmed (A). The left side is finished with a facing (B), which extends around the lower edge of the sleeve. For the facing cut a strip of material on a perfect bias. Turn under each edge about ¼ of an inch and baste. Then turn under the edge of the left side of the sleeve seam. Baste the bias facing along the edge of the sleeve seam and around the lower line that encircle the wrist. Turn the corners carefully so that there will be no unevenness, then hem down both side of the facing with fine hemming stitches.

If preferred, in copying this model the cape may be omitted.

HUMBLE PRODUCTION OVER 80,000 BARRELS

The Humble Oil and Refining Company has completed two more wells at Powell this week. They are the Davis number 3 and the Irvine C-11.

Davis No. 3 made a flow of 36 barrels the first hour but suddenly increased to 139 barrels the second hour. The report of the well is that it continues with its second hour flow rate.

Irvine No. C-11 came in with 84 barrels flow per hour.

The sand record of the Davis well is 2,945-80 feet. The sand record of the Irvine well is 2,674-940 feet.

The Humble company's production report today shows a total of 80,630 barrels run for the last 24 hours. This is a slight decrease over the day before, when it reached the highest point. The Humble company is now producing almost half the output of the field. Its production is the greatest of any one company in any one field.

Farm Congress Head Urges U. S. Help Growers

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 10.—Marketing of America's annual surplus wheat crop by the government to insure better prices for the producer was urged today by W. K. James, president, in his opening address to the International Farm Congress here.

James' plan would involve turning over by the farmer of his surplus or exportable wheat crop each year to the United States Grain Corporation and its sale by this agency in the world markets.

The plan also includes price fixing by the government for the bulk of the crop, on the basis of home consumption. Thus under this scheme the wheat raiser would be given two markets for hi scrop, and according to James would receive American prices for from 75 to 90 percent of his product, and a world price for the balance.

"At present the farmer sells 100 per cent of his product at the low level of world prices and produces his product and supports his family under the artifically stimulated American price levels," he said.

"We must set up the machinery by which wheat raisers will receive American prices for home consumption and world prices for the surplus."

The secretary of agriculture, under James' plan would estimate the percentage of the wheat crop to be held for home consumption, and the amount to be taken over for export.

The farmer, when he delivered his wheat to the warehouses, would receive cash for the home consumed product, and a negotiable receipt for the exportable surplus.

This method of marketing would automatically restrict wheat production to the amount required for home consumption, and encourage diversifiied farming, James pointed out.

"The wheat raiser would receive for the 75 to 90 percent of his crop as much as for all his crop under present methods—perhaps even more—and selling the surplus at world market prices would work a wholesome restraint on the acreage of wheat raised in this country."

Leading authorities on farm problems were present from all parts of the world when the international gathering of farmers was officially launched.

A telegram from President Coolidge to the Congress said:

"An international consideration of agricultural problems is particularly appropriate now for the agricultural crisis is, in truth, of international as well as domestic character."

The reports of the world's series between the Giants and Yankees will appear daily in the Mexia Daily News on the day the game is played. The News is first with the news and 14 hours ahead of any other newspaper coming into Me

Giants Face The Same Team As Last Year

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—New York's annual fall festival, the battle between the Giants and the Yanks for the city and world's baseball championhips, dropped today upon a slightly excited populace.

Ideal conditions, just as good as could have been ordered, prevailed and all advance indications pointed to an opening game attendance that would shatter all records.

The weather, bright and fair, was perfect for playing and for seeing the first game of the third series played between the New York National and American League pennant winners.

Pressed for statements John McGraw and Miller Huggins, managers of the rival clubs, said they were nopeful and that the change in the betting to even money represented their notion that "it was a toss up."

The only thing new about the series this year is the field of the battle for the opener which will be in the new $2,000,000 Yankee Stadium. The Yanks will act as the home club today and have charge of the cash register which will probably ring up the greatest sum that has ever been paid for one game of the

By STEVE HANNAGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—It's circus day in New York.

The big show is on at the Yankee Stadium with John McGraw and Miller Huggins as the high hatted ringmasters.

A pale blue October sky is the top. Instead of three rings there will be only one loop—and that interest spot is a diamond.

The Yanks and Giants will perform to the whip cracking of their masters in the greatest baseball show of the season. But the poines in this tragedy get more than oats. Most anybody would be glad to garner the golden fodder they will be fed from check books at the end of the exhibition.

It may be "little ole n'Yawk's" private drama, but there are a flock of sapolios from Munice and Council Bluffs peeking over the fence—and telegraph wires will be the eyes and ears through which the homefire boys will pilfer their conversation and argument data for the base burner season.

There will be enough word battles canned this week to keep the starving fans nourished until the training season sun thaws the national pastime herces out of their winter hibernating spots next spring.

New Yorks streets, always bulging with storming traffic, were bent out of line today with the added population of baseball customers from outyonder. All that was needed to film La Fayette's spring circus day scene was a parade of red wagons and a couple of cages of mangy lions.

The first laddie to start the all night vigil at the bleacher ticket cage was Archie Yarish, 18, whiskerless and from Brooklyn. He arrived on the scene at 6:30 last evening, squatted on a soap box and waited out father time's minute pitching.

He arose from his sitting slumber, with the first rays of the sun, yawned, stretched—then sat down again. "Great day for the game," he said to the waiters augumented to fifty strong during the long night. He picks the Yankees to win. So do most of the others.

The most picturesque type on the waiting list was P. J. Rourke, 64, the sheriff of New Haven County, Connecticut. The icicles were being melted off his drooping gray moustache by the steam from his corncob boiler as he stood before the reserved seat cage—the first in that line.

All the night shift boys favored the Yankees as victors, some in four straight games, the more conservative predicting four out of six contests.

At 6:30 o'clock today—after Archie Yarish had been on duty 12 hours—the crowd began to gather and line up. The polo squad was increased. he big show began to take shape. But it was no summer pastime.

Draughts of hot coffee faded the pink circus lemonade out of sight, laprobes chased the big palm fans to the spare closet and hot puppies, garnished with ladles of mustard, answered the call of ice cream sandwiches. It was chilly enough for a gridiron scramble.

The usual circus tin band was noisily blearing out the strains of the Fruit Song from Bananaland. It doesn't look like a clown band—but listens like one till it stops.

Spengle Hero Of Winners Hits Home Run

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Giants won a baseball game today. Spengle is their hero. He knocked a home run in the ninth, no man on, which broke a tie and no scores on either side were tallied after that. It was enough. The Giants won with 5 scores while the Yankees lost with 4. Spengle came to the bat when there were two out and struck with terrific force, landing the ball in deep center. He circled the bases just in time, touching the home plate barely ahead of the ball as it was hurled home. Spengle was withdrawn by the Giants, after his great hit, having done his bit and his "do for the day."

Fair weather was on hand for the opening game. Early in the morning the sky was slightly overcast and there was a decided autumnship in the breezes of the Bronx where the contenders met in their third annual champinship clash.

When the umpires growled "Play Ball," the sky had cleared and the sun had taken the bite out of the breeze, until it was an ideal baseball day.

The crowd attending the opener was estimated at 65,000.

Some of them came with overcoats on, but most of the bleacherites sat in thir shirt sleeves.

When the teams came on the field both Yankees and Giants were given great ovations. The Giant players began razzing Babe Ruth in practice.

The game was called at 2 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time, 1 p. m. Mexia.)

The umpires were Evans and Nallin for the American League and Hart and O'Day for the National League.

Speculation as to the batteries for the day ended with the announcement that for the Giants, G. Watson, Ryan and Gowdy and Snider would appear and for the Yankees, Hoyt, Bush and Schang.

The Yankees led off with one score in the first and two more in the second, while the Giants trailed behind with nothing. In the third, however, the Giants rallied and ran in four tallies, taking the lead in the initial clash.

Throughout the next three innings neither side was able to chalk up a marker. In the last of the fifth, Bush made an almost impossible throw blocking Babe Ruth at home.

Groh came to the bat in the first of the sixth. With his 474 batting average of last season, the eyes of the grandstand were naturally focused on him. He went out with a fly to Babe Ruth who caught it without moving out of his tracks.

The inning ended with no runs, no hits, and no errors.

For the Yankees Pitt was first up. He went out to Ryan on first base. Ward flew out to E. Meusel in left field. Schang doubled to right field. A quick throw by Young almost got him at second. Scott was out on first ball over, Bush to Kelley, the inning terminating with no runs, no hits and no errors, with the Giants favored to win.

In the seventh, the Giants failed to do anything. Ruth made a beautiful throw in this frame and stopped a double, when Kelley singled to right field. Kelly, batting 278 last year, hit into a double play, Scott to Ward to Pitts. Snider came up next batting 333 last year in 74 games fanned.

Joe Bush was first up for the Yankees in their turn in the seventh His batting average last year was 167 per cent. He singled to center field for his second hit of the game Whit flew out to E. Meusel. Dugan came forward next and hit a triple past Young, scoring Bush and the score was tied.

In the eighth, neither side tallied.

With the ninth inning coming up and with the score standing Giants 4, Yankees 4, the fans settled down to witness a long fought fight. This was soon dissipated, however, when Spengle went to the home plate and knocked a home run, with no one on giving the Giants the lead by that much.

The Yanks failed to score in their time up.

John McGraw, Manager of the Giants:

"Our team this year is as good as it was last year. The pitchers are a little bit better, I believe. We have a strong attack and a good defense The breaks mean everything in a short series and while I am confident I want the Giants to realize that they have a fight and they do."

Miller Huggins, Manager of Yankees

"We are much stronger than we were last year. The Giants caught us in a slump last fall and we never came out of it. With our pitching staff and with a most formidable batting team I feel sure that we have more than an even chance to win. We will have no alibis if we lose."

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION SOUGHT BY GEORGE

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—Lloyd George is turning his holiday into a crusade for international co-operation in the interest of world stability and peace. He is converting his tour into a demand that the allied governments accept the United States plan for settling the reparations problem. His attitude is one of strong criticism for Britain for not having brought pressure to bear on France to accept the Hughes' plan. His sudden interest is the result of the merest hint from Washington that the United States is willing to discuss the plan.

Investigation Of Walton Will Be First Business Considered By Oklahoma Solons

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 10.—Leading members of the Oklahoma legislature today declared investigation of Gov. J. C. Walton's administration would be the first business taken up when the solons meet in extra session here Thursday.

Replying to the offer of the governor late Tuesday night to allow his resignation as chief executive of the state to become automatically effective with the passage of an anti-klan bill, submitted by the administration, W. D. McBee, unofficial House leader, declared the House would adhere to its plan for investigation of the administration.

In making the offer, announced after an all day session at the executive mansion here yesterday, Governor Walton declared he was willing to step down as governor of the State upon the passage of the anti-klan measure. However, he declared, in event the legislators maintained their course toward an investigation of his administration with the probable view of launching impeachment proceedings, we would fight "to the last ditch." "If the legislature will pass the bill the fight will be over: if they attempt to pass the buck and promise an anti-klan bill after they have completed an investibation of my administration, the fight will be on and I will be in it" the Governor declared.

The text of the anti-klan bill submitted by the Governor follows:

Section 1. On or before the first day of January of each year after the approval of this act, it shall be the duty of each and every organization within this State to file with the county clerk of each county where the principal or a branch office of said organization may be located or in each county where any of its members may reside, a full and complete list of the names and addresses of all officers and members of such organizations duly certified by the officials of such organizations, provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to industrial organizations, industrial unions, farm and labor organizations and other organizations which have for their purpose the economic betterment and which are not organized with the professed purpose of assisting in the enforcement of any of the criminal laws of this State or the supression of crime and providing further that this section shall not apply to any school society.

DRINKING BANNED

Yale has fallen in line with a score of other leading colleges in banning drinking in its buildings. Violation will mean dismissal President Angell has told the students. Personal views will have no weight with the president. Liquor must go.

Similar announcements have been made the past two years from other centers of learning. It is an unmistakable indication that faculties of American colleges are determined to foster the highest moral tone possible among students. The college is a vital center of Americanism. Disrespect for law learned there, and tolerated by officials, would be a blow at a fundamental institution.

MEDICINE'S VICTORY

Medical science has achieved another victory and anthrax, a serious disease, has been eliminated from the maladies that afflict the human race.

Horsehair shaving brushes have been found to be the cause of anthrax's spread. When the disease was at its height in the years 1919 and 1920 medical men who were studying the plague went into the open market and bought various kinds of shaving brushes which they suspected of carrying the deadly germ. Those made of horsehair, when examined, were found to contain the anthrax germ in seven percent of the cases. Legislation was called in to aid the serum which was devised to combat the disease and the manufacture of horsehair shaving brushes has been generally banned.

The legislators who thus cooperated with the findings of science are to be commended. This same sort of close cooperation should always exist between the scientist and the lawmaker. When the former finds that the public health can be improved by eliminating certain factors in our daily life the solon should lend his prompt and sympathetic aid.

BILLION DOLLAR PAYROLLS

One person out of every twelve over the age of sixteen in the United States is on the public payroll, and as a result taxpayers are called upon to provide a salary schedule of four billion dollars a year. The figures were compiled by the National Industrial Conference board and are generally accepted as accurate.

Figures of such stupendous proportions are worthy of considerable study, especially in view of the fact that even the government itself admits that public business is not run on a strictly economical basis. The figures, of course, include every branch of governmental work—federal, state, county and city. Yet even this does not seem to clarify the atmosphere. The question is: Just how much is necessary and just how much is unnecessary. How much is the outcome of duplication, inactive departments and, last but not least, political plums.

There is no cause for undue alarm, however, for the nation as a whole seems to be prospering even under this yoke, which would wreck the average European nation. But with all the money that is being spent on investigating commissions, might it not be a good idea to spend a little more and determine just where the leaks are?

ROYAL HOSPITALITY

Hospitality for officials visiting London probably will be greatly limited in the future if the announcement of the manner of conducting the coming conferences of the Dominion premiers goes for anything. Instead of being incessantly wined and dined officials will be asked to attend but a few state banquets, and these will be much more simple than has been the rule in the past.

This idea of simplified entertaining originated with the premiers themselves who let it be known that there is a limit to their physical endurance. Experience in this country where distinguished visitors have succumbed to the strain of attempting to follow too strenuous programs indicates that a similar restriction on banquets and social functions might work with satisfaction to all concerned.

Lloyd George knows. Ask him.

LITTLE FOXES

Known to all Rotarians is the story of Paul P. Harris, a Chicago lawyer, who several years ago when he was lonesome for the fellowship of other men arranged that several of the men he knew would meet for an hour of recreation and profit. The members of the organization met in their various offices going around in rotation, and so the name Rotary Club was chosen. Now there are Rotary clubs in nearly all the principal cities in the world, an outgrowth of the idea of one man for curing loneliness.

One day Charles Apelt in southwest Texas killed an armadillo. He tried to flatten out the animal's shell, unable to do this he left it in the sun, when he returned he saw that the shell had curled up into a basket-like shape. There was born that day a new industry, now employing about fifty men and fifty dogs, kept busy killing armadillos. And Mr. Apelt receives orders from nearly every country in the world for his armadillo baskets.

It is surprising to read that the professional and capable begger in our larger cities makes from $15 to $500 a day from the small change the passer-byers give him.

Louis F. Butler, president of the Travelers Insurance Co., is quoted as saying that five times as many accident claims are paid to people who are injured right in their own homes by such little things as scissors, rugs on polished floors, or light fixtures, as are paid to people injured in railroad and steamship travel.

Largely Attended Missionary Meeting And Splendid Program Feature Meeting of Methodists

The District Meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Corsicana District of the Methodist church met at Corsicana Monday. The session was reported as the most largely attended in the history of the church and delegates from here report a most profitable meeting.

Delegates were present from practically every woman's Missionary Society in the district and a program of unusual interest and educational value was carried out in the allday session. It was held in the First Methodist church. At noon dinner was served in the church.

Kerens was selected as the next meeting place, in a closely contested race. Coolidge and Groesbeck were also contenders for the 1924 meeting.

The program consisted of inspirational addresses, excellent music and good reports from practically every society of the district.

Mrs. J. W. Davis of Corsicana, District Secretary called the meeting to order at 10 o'clock and presided throughout the day. The meeting was opened with singing "Close to Thee," which was followed by a devotional service led by Mrs. Mary McClure of Corsicana. After another song by the conference, Mrs. Lynne Wortham called the roll.

The District Secretary then submitted her report in which she stated that in this district there were 17 auxiliaries, 777 adult members, 6 young people's auxiliaries with 46 members and 5 juniors societies with 50 members.

Mrs. Joe Turk of Corsicana followed with a vocal selection.

Mrs. J. H. Stewart, of Temple, President of the Woman's Missionary Society of Central Texas, gave a very splendid address which was followed by another song.

Mrs. E. W. Potter, recording secretary of the Waxahachie District, had charge of the quiet hour and also delivered an inspirational talk.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was called to order at 1 o'clock and following the singing of two songs by the audience the devotional service was led by Mrs. A. W. Rogers.

H. F. Barnett former resident of Corsicana but now superintendent of the Methodist Orphans Home in Waco was introduced and made a most interesting talk concerning the orphanage. Mr. Barnett said that he came to bring good tidings of the home and that the home had enjoyed one of the best years in its history. He stated that the home now had over $500,000 in property and that there were 301 children in thehome and added that there were 300,000 Methodist parents in the state of Texas who would never allow these children to suffer. The speaker also took occasion to pay a compliment to Mrs. Abe Mulkey who "gave her life and that of her husband for this institution." Mr. Barnett's talk was very much enjoyed. Mrs. Abe Mulkey also made a short talk concerning the activities of the home.

At the conclusion of these two talks Mrs. H. H. Flemming, leader of the First Methodist church choir, accompanied by Mrs. Eugenia Story, rendered a vocal selection which was very much enjoyed.

The mission study was conducted by Mrs. J. F. Stewart during which it was announced that Miss Mary Smith Monk, daughter of the pastor of the First Methodist church, had voluntered for missionary service Miss Monk made a short talk.

A letter from Miss Alice Alsup, missionary to China was read by Mrs. C. C. Albritton and Mrs. J. S. Callicutt discussed the Belle H. Bennett Memorial after which the aduience joined in singing "To the Work."

The delegates' hour was conducted by Mrs. W. G. Bailey of Groesbeck. Supplies were discussed by Mrs. H. B. Clark of Dawson; Importance of Junior Work by Mrs. W. B. Landrum of Mexia; Benefits Derived from Missionary Study by Mrs. T. L. Longbotham of Wortham; How To Interest Women in Bible Study by Mrs. Riggs of Coolidge; Social Service by Mrs. E. W. Warnell of Corsicana. Rev. C. A. Bickley presiding elder, also made a short talk as well as did the Rev. Alonzo Monk, Jr., pastor of the First Methodist church of Corsicana.

Wortham received the banner for the best missionary society of the year

Mrs. Beaton and Mrs. Miller were introduced by Mrs. Callicutt as pioneers in the missionary society work in Navarro county. The Rev. H. P. Shrader was introduced by the Rev. Mr. Monk. Mrs. W. D. Haynie of Rice and Mrs. Abe Mulkey, prominent in church work of the county for many years were also introduced to the audience. The ministers of the district, of which there were twenty-two attending the meeting, were also presented to the audience.

Mrs. T. L. Longbotham of Wortham, chairman of the resolutions committee, thanked the women of the church for the excellent lunch served and the ministers and other speakers for their inspiring talks. Following the singing of the song "Best Be the Tie" the Rev. E. W. Potter of Waxahachie gave the benediction.

Freak Calls Bring Houston Firemen

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 10.—Daily entries are being made in the Houston Fire Department's book of "freak calls."

Among the recent ones are:

"I want you to chase some pigeons out of my attic" a woman told firemen who made a hurry call to her suburban home.

At another address a housekeeper was fighting bedbugs with a torch. A nervous neighbor pulled the fire alarm.

Mosquitoes caused insomnia in a rooming house. A roomer built a fire on the floor to smoke 'em out. Firemen saved part of the furniture.

AMERICAN LEGION POST IS AGAIN "AT HOME"

Adjutant Hawk is again on the job at the Nowlin Post Headquarters of the American Legion. The Post suffered some loss and considerable handicap several months ago in the fire which swept the lower floor of the Houx building in which the organization is located. The necessary renovation was made possible through gifts made by Jack Womack, Jesse McLendon, E. L. Smith and Blake Smith, for which the members of the Legion are grateful. All visiting Legionnaires are urged to visit the handsomely appointed club rooms, take advantage of the reading and rest room, and get acquainted with some of the local members who "drop in" for a social hour.

Listening by long distance telephone from Boston to the tolling of several bells at Troy, N. Y., enabled a church committee deputed to purchase a bell to make a decision without the expense of a trip to the factory.

BLACK CATS TO MEET WORTHAM ON GRIDIRON FRIDAY

Wortham will be the next victims of prey for the Mexia Hi Black Cats. The local eleven will play Wortham here Friday Oct. 12 at Nowlin Park. The game will be called at 3:45, according to Coach Poteet.

Thus far the locals have played two games on the gridiron winning both. In the first game they defeated the Mart Hi eleven by a score of 7 to 0. The second game was also won by the locals defeating the strong Dawson team 26 to 0.

Two of the members of the squad are out with injuries and it is most probable that they will be out for the remainder of the season. Buddie Storey broke his right shoulder in practice Monday afternoon. Buddie played a part of the Dawson game on right end. Buddie hurt his shoulder in the first part of practice and was laid out for a week or more. He then had a bad case of blood poison and then this late accident put him in a condition that will no doubt prove that he has played his last year of high school football. Maurice Bobinson fractured his collarbone in the scrimmage Monday afternoon and will be out of the game for perhaps the remainder of the season.

Coach Poteet will likely start his regular line up with the exception of Storey on end who will be replaced by Paris or Lucas. Omar and Oral Seely will be the choice for guard positions more than likely. Thompson will be used at right tackle. If Thomas McNutt does not get back in time for the game Wayne Lucas may draw the nomination for left tackle. Perkinson and Paris will start on ends provided that McNutt does not return thus placing Lucas at tackle. Herman Adam will be used at the pivot of the line.

In the backfield he will use Clover at quarter, Cox at full and Kendrick and M. Williams at halves.

Coach Poteet announces that the prices for Friday's game will be 15 and 25 cents. He is trying to see how many they can get out for the battle to back the Cats. Tickets will be sold by the students through the Pep club. Many interesting features will be popped by the Pep club and there is wind of a big shirt tail parade by the boys through the down town district that night.

SPORTLIGHTS

Age-worn and time-proven axioms that dope is never infallible and that nothing is certain in baseball make complicated this fall the process of arriving at some accurate forecast on the result of the 1923 world's series.

With the same two teams almost man for man that engaged in the two past series, the dope, but for its known tendency to get off the track at times, would indicate that the New York Giants would be a safe bet to win another world's championship at the expense of their Bronx rivals.

On the basis of form and past performances, the most approved method of doping, the Yankees have only a small chance to trun the tables and beat the team that won rather easily from them in 1921 and made them look saps in 1922.

In personnel and the basis machanics of baseball, the Yanks are no better this year than they were last year. Their biggest asset is the same superiority in pitching that was expected to overcome the Giants last fall and which failed miserably to do it.

In the flesh it is the same Yankee team, the same players, the same style of game and same erratic temperament, but in morale and spirit, it is a vastly different ball club that will try to live up to the good things expected of it in 1921 and 1922.

Although superficial judgement would justify the belief that the Yanks are too old a ball club to stir themselves out of the beaten path that led them to two fine trimmings. many wise baseball fans are picking the American League champions to beat the Giants because of the stability, the harmony and the winning spirit they displayed in running away with their third straight pennant.

The Yanks did show a most impressive change in temperament from the very first day of the season. It was apparent that they considered the business of winning the pennant a very serious proposition in which the financial end was too important to permit of laxity in training or in playing.

With Babe Ruth setting a most exemplary style of living and paying close attention to business, the Yanks subordinated personal feelings, broke up factional cliques and worked in harmony for a common cause.

It is the change in morale and the cultivation of a winning spirit that will bring the Yankees to their first world's championship—if they do get there.

Another important factor to consider in figuring the chances of the Yankees is the known fact that from the early part of the season, when it began to appear certain that nothing but bad luck or injuries could keep them out of the world's series, the club has been living, playing and planning only to beat the Giants and vindicate themselves.

The Yankees felt, individually and collectively, the deepest humiliation over the sorry showing they made in the series last year, when the best they could do was to get a tie in one game. They felt that they were not only a better club than they looked, but that they were a better team than the Giants. They claimed they were caught in a slump that came as a reaction after the hard fight they had to win the pennant and that the Giants found them in the state of a general let-down.

Granting that the team might have been in a general slump, that the star pitchers were disheartened by the lack of support and that the whole team was stale, the American League champions ought to be in better shape this year because they had more than two weeks to break the strain after they had won the pennant and the same time in which to prepare themselves for the pennant.

Perhaps the strain, which forced the Giants to go their limit until almost the last minute of the season, will have the same effect that it worked on the Yankees last year, although John McGraw has said in the past that he preferred to keep his club going at top speed instead of allowing them to let down and then getting them back on edge again.

Managers and players of rival clubs in the American League have expressed the opinion that the Yanks are a greatly improved ball club and they pointed out that the easy victory of the New Yorkers in the pennant race was not due to any real decrease in the strength of the contending clubs, but was the result of the great improvement in the champions.

While everything depends upon the mental factor on the Yankee team, it will be of no importance with the Giants. Two impressive victories over the Yanks will give the National League champions a mental edge over their opponents and will of necessity increase the confidence that they might lack with huch mediocre pitching.

Having been victorious in two battles behind the same kind of pitching, having had little trouble with the star pitchers of the Yanks and having stopped the great Babe Ruth plenty. the Giants will not need to be put through any mental exercises by McGraw.

The Giants can be depended upon to outsmart the Yanks if it comes to a battle of brains, and it was quick thinking and spontaneous action that turned the tide in two of the games last fall when the Yankees gave evidence of having left their brains in the club house. McGraw's team always play smart baseball because they take orders on every play from the bench and it is not to the discredit of Miller Huggins to give McGraw credit for more baseball brains. He has more baseball knowledge than any manager of all time.

Position by position, the Giants and the Yankees are not badly matched.

JOHN BARRYMORE'S NEW FILM ROLE

John Barrymore, whose screen appearances have been marked by quality rather than quantity, is to be seen at the Grand theatre today in a characterization which he has declared to be the most interesting he has ever made—none other than fiction's greatest detective—Sherlock Holmes.

"Sherlock Holmes" was directed by Al Parker. Perhaps no other character in fiction is so universally liked and known, and from all indications, the same universal interest is attaching itself to the picturization of the famous detective story. Aside from the magnet of having so distinguished an actor essay the stellar role, the supporting cast has been chosen with such definite care and detail, that it reads like a roster of the best known players of the stage and screen. In fact, the making of the picture was delayed until every character down to the most unimportant super, was perfectly cast.

In the cast of players occur such distinguished names as Carol Dempster, who plays the role of Alice Faulkner; Roland Young, who is the faithful Watson, and Gustave von Seyffertitz, who gives an amazing portrait of the despicable Professor Moriarty. Hedda Hopper, Anders Randolf Percival Knight, Lumsden Hare, Louis Wolheim, John Willard and Reginald Denny are also in the roster.

C. C. Directors Take Up Subject Of Improving Unpaved Streets At Meeting In City Hall Tuesday

Eleven directors attended the meeting of the board of the Mexia Chamber of Commerce in the office in the City Hall at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. In the absence of President John H. Sweatt, First Vice President, L. S. Patterson presided over the meeting.

Two matters of importance were discussed, one of which was some arrangement to clean the paved streets. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that this should be done for the purpose of abating the dust nuisance, as the merchants complain that dust damages their stocks, as a protection to the pavement and as a measure of sanitation to safe guard the health of the community. It was also the opinion of those present that this should be done by the city and a committee composed of Gene Sinclair, chairman, J. W. Prickett and Phil Karner was appointed to attend the next meeting of the City Commission and urge the City Government to take some prompt measure to clean the paved streets.

The condition of North Belknap street, from Commerce to Carthage and that portion of Carthage street extending to Denton, and Denton street from Carthage to the city limits (the same being a connection with the Tehuacana road,) was next brought up for discussion. It was reported to the meeting that the County Commissioner was ready to improve the Tehuacana road connecting with this street, provided the City would surface this street with crushed rock or gravel or otherwise improve it, and it was the opinion of those present that as this is the road to Tehuacana, Coolidge and Waco that it was important that this should be done and the Committee above appointed was instructed to include this proposition in their petition to the City Commission. It was pointed out in the discussion that North Belknap street and Carthage street especially become practically impassable after any amount of rain, and this connection with the Tehuacana road is regarded as one of the principal feeders for Mexia trade.

Other routine matters were discussed, the secretary made a report on the progress of negotiations between the City Commission and the local Light and Power company looking toward a downward revision in the rate charge for light and power.

Attention of the meeting was called to the Baby Show promoted by the local Elks lodge and as it was the opinion of the directors that this would likely bring some trade to Mexia and create a general interest, the resolution was unanimously passed commending Exalted Ruler Frank C. Bolton and the Elks lodge and instructing the secreatry's office to cooperate with them in every way possible.

The report of Secretary Stollenwerck regarding the cotton mill conference in Dallas Saturday, Oct. 6th will be covered in a separate article in Thursday's News.

An Unsolved Disappearance

By E. H. WOLFF

In every big city, bar none, there stands out vividly in its Police History certain stories, tales and happenings which are always referred to as landmarks whenever a similar event takes place. If there is a kidnaping it is referred to as mysterious as the such and such case of twenty years ago; if a sensational murder it is also referred back to a certain previous murder, or other crime, which stands as a landmark in crime's bloody history. For a generation the Charley Ross kidnaping case was the talk of the nation; there have been countless kidnaping since then but the Ross case stands out like mars at parihelion; like a beacon light in New York harbor as a class by itself. The Harry Thaw case stands out cleraly within our memory as an incident replete with startling disclosures and strange happenings of a big city. So, as I say, every city has the one particular case which stands out boldly, defying time to erase the memory and no later crime, it seems, can quite eclipse the landmark, which usually grows more vivid as time goes on.

The little story I am about to tell concerns a young man, whom we shall refer to as Dick Smith. A young man working in a commercial establishment in a large California city. Early one morning he was sent to the bank to cash a check as he had done regularly for years; he disappeared that morning between his office and the bank—no one saw him after that day, he never arrived at the bank, the check remains uncashed to this day; he handled no money; nothing was missing. In fact, after months of close investigation not one hair was ever found that would throw light upon his utter and complete disappearance. No one has ever turned up after almost thirty years to throw any light on where or why he went—he disappeared like a rock thrown into the bay. Unfinished work at the office indicated he would soon return—he left the office without hat or coat which proves he had intended to return; a full dinner bucket indicated his intention to return for had he willfully and deliberately planned to disappear it is not likely he would report for work as usual and bring his dinner; nobody was ever found in the bay or ocean; not a clue ever developed and it is quite possible the event will remain forever as great a mystery as the morning he disappeared.

Ed Borraw, business manager of the Yanks, announced that all the reserved seats for the three Yankee games had been sold and that he was sure the 36,000 unreserved seats placed on sale at 10 o'clock would be sold before noon. The crowd probably will reach 65,000.

Squads of garden manicurists worked all day and all night on the playing ground and this morning there were only a few spots in the turf to show where cowpunchers had helped steers and bronos tear up the sod at the rodeo several weeks ago.

With some obvious pleasure Miller Huggins announced this morning that the same team which ran away with the American League pennant would face the Giants. Wally Pipp, with his improved ankle, will hold down first base and Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel will have the flank positions in the outfield.

Neither Huggins nor McGraw would say anything definitely about their pitching selection but it was considered almost sure that the opening game would be a left handed battle between Art Nehf and Herb Pennock, the leading portsiders of the two clibs. Schang will be behind the bat for the Yanks and either Snyder or Gowdy for the Giants.

Commissioner Landis ordered Billy Evans, in charge of the umpires today, to have his staff on the field at 1:50. They are 12 ground rules to be explained all around and with ten minutes it is figured that the game will start promptly at 2:00 o'clock.

Landis also told the umpires that the commissioner, a representative and the manager of each club would decide when the field was in condition to be played upon but the umpire behind the plate will have to decide how long a game is to be continued under adverse conditions.

The umpires maintain that it will be the hardest series to call ever played because of the shadows in both the stadium and the polo grounds. They claim that it is almost impossible to judge a low ball accurately after four o'clock.

Probable line-up:

Giants	Yankees
Bancroft, ss	Witt, cf
Groh, 3b	Dugan, 3b
Frisch, 2b	Ruth, lf
Young, rf	Pipp, 1b
E. Meusel, lf	R. Meusel, rf
Cunningham, cf	Ward, 2b
Kelly, 1b	Schang, c
Synder, c	Scott, ss
Nehf, p	Pennock, p

Umpires: Evans, behind the plate. O'Day on first base. Nallin on second base. Hart on third base.

Women Adopt the Colorful Knitted Tie from the Masculine Fashion

With the tremendous growth of the vogue for knitted outerwear this fall, the knitted tie has found its place in the feminine mode, and is now being adapted to the blouse worn with the tailored suit, the slip-on sweater, the knitted jacquette and the figured silk blouse worn so gracefully beneath the strappings of the new peasant frocks.

Perhaps the most significant feature of this new boyish toggery for women is the beautiful colorings. From Egypt have been borrowed subtle blendings of old red, gold, bronze and pottery blue, cleverly knitted into diagonally striped designs. There are new tones of blue and severely simple patterns almost classic in design.

The newest knitted ties have the popular open ends received so well by the masculine element. And the ties especially adapted to women's blouses are considerably shorter in length, despite the fact that they are purchased at the same counter where brother buys his.

A maroon tie of silk and cotton mixture is a combination which the dark-eyed girl should not overlook in selecting her sports clothes. The business girl may accent the jauntiness of her tailor-made by the addition of a pretty knitted tie for her blouse collar. And the college girl can show her loyalty to her alma mater in no more personally attractive way than choosing her college hues in the knitted tie which she wears at college sports occasions.

One is at a loss to name the new shades developed in these ties by their old-fashioned tints. One is not certain whether the Oriental shades of red are really in the classification of old rose, or if the greens and wood browns used separately or in combinations are not the nearest reproductions of nature's own palette we have ever attained.

For the jagged collars of the figured silk peasant blouses now used with the cunning jumper frocks, designers are taking the knitted tie as a finishing touch. Where the blouse boasts an intricate design, the tie should be of a suitable plain color. Where the blouse is in a solid color, one may select the most intricate design for the tie. This rule should be followed in selecting the new knitted tie so as to avoid ineffective conglomeration of patterns.

Old gold flowers are knitted into a dark brown silk tie and worn with a blouse of faint yellow. The three shades of yellow lend a new costume note to what we once knew as the shirtwaist.

To brighten up your last season's topcoat, just add a bit of color at the neckline of your blouse. Tangerine diagonally striped with old blue, violet with a touch of green, biscuit with old gold and orange stripings or a neatly figured pattern knitted in two shades of your favorite color, will do wonders toward making a passé costume look quite new and up-to-date.

Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, 31 Railroad Street, this city.

"I was all run-down until my family thought they would lose me," writes Mrs. Courtney. "My husband coaxed me to take Cardui, so, to please him, I did, and will say I do not regret it, for I am able to do all my work and do my shopping.

"I have five children, four in school, my husband and a boarder to do for, and I do all my own work for all of us, and find time to play. We all praise Cardui. Every sick and run-down woman should take this wonderful medicine.

"I suffered with my back; a very weak feeling in my limbs.

"I felt hardly able to drag; just tired—so tired all the time.

"It was an effort for me to do anything, but Cardui helped me so I felt like a different woman."

If you are in a run-down physical condition, suffering as this Indiana lady says she did, give Cardui a fair trial. It should help you.

C. A. PUCKETT FIRST SPEAKER AT FIRST WEEKLY LUNCHEON TO GIVEN BY AMERICAN LEGION

About twenty members of American Legion and Auxiliary assembled at the first weekly luncheon of Nowlin Post at the headquarters of the local post Tuesday at 12:15. It was an occasion that was greatly enjoyed by everyone in attendence, who were pleased with the start made. It was voted to continue the luncheon idea and the programs each time will be worthy of the organization and worth while, according to an announcement by Post Commander Owen F. Watkins who presided.

The luncheon was arranged and supervised by members of the Auxiliary of the Nowlin Post and each plate was served at a cost of fifty cents. A splendid luncheon was provided. The program included a few minutes of fraternizing prior to the Mess Call. At the conclusion of mess, Commander Watkins introduced C. A. Puckett, superintendent of Mexia schools to discuss any subject he desired. He was introduced as a veteran himself, a member of the American Legion and a man insympathy with the spirit of the patriotic organization. His address was appreciated and indicated the happy relation that exists here between the schools and the Legion.

He said, in part:

The American Legion came into being for the purpose of keeping proper ideals of American citizenship ever before the American people. In time of war human nature naturally responds to the call of patriotism, but in the "piping times of peace" we forget. The routine of every day existence forces into the background of our consciousness the things which meant so much in times of stress.

The Legion, therefore, seeing the necessity for keeping the proper ideals of democracy before the American people, took up that responsibility and since that time it has been "on the job" every minute. It has demanded that you and I love our country, obey its laws and respect its flag. It has gone further than that—it has furnished inspiration and aid to the public schools in their effort to train the children of our land in citizenship.

The Legion has emphasized the responsibility which we have inherited from our forefathers in the matter of training our children. The Legion is trying to bring us to fully realize the fact that through our schools the future of our nation may be determined. The Legion points out the fact that Germany prostituted her educational system to the whim of a mad monarch and taught her children to lisp the perverted doctrines of "Kultur;" that Russia provided no education at all for her people and Russia is now in the throes of anarchy. And so, day after day, the American Legion is selling the idea to the people that a nation which would survive must look well to the education of its youth.

In carrying out its program the American Legion is furnishing aid and inspiration to those of us in the schools who are striving to train the children to love our country, obey its laws and respect its flag. For this inspiration we are very thankful and we turn to our task with renewed vigor. We would have every child from the tiny kindergartner to the oldest high school student thoroughly conversant with the customs, usages, laws and traditions of our country. We would implant in each child's heart a love of country that will never die. We would imbue him with a partiotism which would never let him forget our flag and those things for which it stands.

We would have each child leave school with the message of Colonel Alvin M. Owsley, National Commander of the American Legion to the school boys of America ringing in his ears and burning in his heart:

"When you see the Stars and Stripes displayed, son, stand up and take off your hat. Somebody may titter. It is in the blood of some to deride all expression of noble sentiment. You may blaspheme in the street and stagger drunken in public places, and the bystanders will not pay much attention to you, but if you should get down on your knees and pray to Almighty God, or if you should stand bearheaded while a company of old soldiers marches by with flags to the breeze, most people will think you are showing off.

But don't you mind. When Old Glory comes along, salute, and let them think what they please. When the band plays The Star Spangled Banner in a restaurant or hotel dining room, get up, even if you rise alone; stand there, and don't be ashamed of it, either.

Don't be ashamed when your throat chokes and the tears come when you see the flag flying from the masts of our ships on the great seas or floating from every flagstaff of the Republic. You will never have a worthier emotion. For of all the signs and symbols since the world began there is none so full of meaning as the flag of this country.

Other flags mean a glorious past; this flag means a glorious future. It is not so much the flag of our fathers as it is the flag of our children, and of countless children yet unborn. It is the flag of tomorrow, the signal of the "Good time coming." It is not the flag of your king; it is the flag of yourself and your neighbors.

Your flag stands for humanity, for an equal opportunity to all the sons of men. Of course, we have not yet arrived at that goal; injustice still dwells among us; senseless and cruel customs of the past still cling to us, but the flag leads the way to fighting the wrongs of men.

Our flag is the world's symbol of liberty. That piece of red, white and blue bunting means five thousand years of struggle upwards. It is the full-grown flower of generations fighting for liberty. It is the century plant of human hope in bloom."

That, ladies and gentlemen, is what the American Legion stands for and that is what we are trying to teach your children.

Mexia Twenty Years Ago

Compiled By N. P. Houx
From Files of Mexia Evening News
Of Oct. 10, 1903.

J. C. C. Keys and family have moved back to their home near Cotton Gin and Mrs. Hartley has resumed management of the Hartley house.

Osborne Kennedy, D. D. G. M. of the Odd Fellows for this county has organized a Rebekah lodge at Kirk with twenty-six members. The officers are Miss Ida Pearce, N. G.; Miss Clyde David, V. G.; Mrs. Annie Taylor, secretary; Mrs. Ida Gardner, treasurer.

Billy Simmons has gone to Pittsburg, where he will buy cotton the balance of this season.

The telegraph poles are now being put up along the new railroad. Carter Sessions is the contractor for this part of the work.

Jesse Denning has the contract for wood work on the new depot and will push the work as fast as possible.

Editorial.—A married man sent the following testimonial to a medicine company: "My wife took a bottle of your medicine and died. I am married again. Please send me another bottle."

Wortham, Texas, Oct. 7.—Mr. T. J. Red, one of Freestone county's best citizens, fell dead in the cotton field yesterday about 1 o'clock. Mr. Red was about 58 years old. Cause of death was heart failure.

Parties who have been in the country west of here report that in some fields cotton is blooming and putting on very nicely. If frost stays off long enough these blooms will make cotton—if the bugs don't get it.

Coyote Killed In City of Abilene

ABILENE, Texas, Oct. 10.—Abilene's city ways apparently held no terror for a coyote that strayed into town recently.

The animal was spied by Jack Reece, motorcycle officer, who at once gave chase.

The coyote led the officer by devious routes through the western part of the city. As the intruder fled before the snorting motorcycle, other persons joined in the chase.

Just as the coyote reached an open space near the city limits, Neece opened up his engine, sped along side the terrified animal and killed it with a shot from his pistol.

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Limestone County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. R. Alford by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Limestone County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Groesbeck, Texas, on the first Monday in November A. D. 1923, the same being the 5th day of November A. D. 1923, then and there to answer an amended petition filed in said Court on the 4th day of October, A. D. 1923, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 2456, wherein Berry Barnett Grocery Company, a corporation, is plaintiff, and N. F. Ferguson, J. A. Underwood, C. B. Jackson and J. R. Alford are defendants, said petition alleging that N. R. Ferguson, J. A. Underwood and C. B. Jackson are partners and doing business under the firm name of Commercial Hotel Company, and J. R. Alford was doing business under the trade name of the Rex Cafe; that plaintiff at the special instance and request of the defendant, Commercial Hotel Company sold to them on the several dates specified in an account certain goods, wares and merchandise being groceries needed in running said business; that in consideration of the sale of said goods, defendant promised to pay therefor the amount charged in said account, being $604.20; that on October 14, 1921, plaintiff at the instance and request of defendant Rex Cafe sold and delivered to it goods, wares and merchandise which said Rex Cafe agreed to pay to the amount charged therefor same being $620.68, that said cafe was run by J. R. Alford until December 16, 1921, when he sold an interest in said cafe to the Commercial Hotel Company; that at that time said cafe owed this plaintiff the sum of $589.88; that on or about December 16, 1921, J. R. Alford doing business under the name of Rex Cafe being indebted to the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company in the sum of $573.91 the said N. R. Ferguson, and J. R. Alford represented to plaintiff that the said sum of $573.91 would not have to be paid within thirty days if he, the said Ferguson, would purchase an interest in the Rex Cafe; that said Commercial Hotel Company would pay said $573.91 within thirty days; plaintiff agreed to said contract and in pursuance thereof the said Ferguson. Underwood and Jackson purchased an interest in said Cafe and in consideration therefor promised to pay plaintiff and the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company the amount mentioned. That the said J. R. Alford transferred to the Mexia Commercial Hotel Company an interest in the Rex Cafe and placed them in possession thereof.

Plaintiff would show to the Court that on November 8, 1921, and January 13, 1922, the Mexia Wholesale Company sold and delivered to the Rex Cafe certain goods, wares and merchandise being groceries for which said Cafe agreed to pay the amount set out in said account the total being the sum of $620.26; that J. R. Alford at that time was the owner of said Cafe, the said Alford being indebted to a number of persons among whom was the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company who sold to said Commercial Hotel Company the said Rex Cafe, agreed to pay said Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company the indebtedness that the Rex Cafe then owed the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company. And afterwards incurred debts to the amount of $106.35 which it promised to pay the Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company. That afterwards the manager of the Rex Cafe gave to said Grocery Company its check for $492.71 which check was turned down and not paid. That on January 14, 1922, said Hotel Company gave a check to said Wholesale Grocery Company for the sum of $106.35 which check was turned down. Plaintiff would show that it has purchased of said Mexia Wholesale Grocery Company for a valuable consideration the indebtedness due said Grocery Company from the Rex Cafe and the Commercial Hotel and the same has not yet been paid and plaintiff is entitled to recover said account.

That all of the said accounts are due and unpaid, and the defendants and each of them have refused to pay any part to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $1845.14.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays the court that defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition; that upon a trial hereof they have judgment for said $1845.14 with interest cost of suit, and such other and further relief, as it may be entitled.

Herein Fail Not, and have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Child Health Advocates Will Hear Discussion of All Their Problems At Association's Annual Meeting

DR. E. C. HARTLEY (PHOTO BY SWEET) DR. HELEN T. WOOLEY (PHOTO BY RACHRACH) DR. FRANK J. O'BRIEN (PHOTO BY SCOTTOM)

There will be no question of the ability of speakers at the first annual meeting of the American Child Health Association—scheduled for Detroit, from October 15 to 27, inclusive—to discuss the subjects assigned to them. Each is a specialist in his or her particular field and each will have the experience of years of activity and close study as authority for what is said.

Three of these eminent experts are shown above. They are Dr. E. C. Hartley, director of child hygiene of the Minnesota State Board of Health; Dr. Helen T. Wooley, psychologist of the Merrill-Palmer School, Detroit (in center); and Dr. Frank J. O'Brien, of the Psychological Clinic, Louisville, Kentucky. Each has a place on the program and each will be heard with marked attention by the more than six hundred [illegible] will attend the convention of the United States and from some foreign countries.

Dr. Hartley has chosen as his subject one with which the convention is vitally concerned. It will be "The Rural Mother; Effective Methods of Increasing Her Interest and Cooperation in Improving the Health of Her Family." This Minnesota official has given much time to this phase of his department's work and is conceded to be one of the country's foremost authorities on it.

"Habit Formation; Health Formation for School Life" will be Dr. Wooley's subject. Through her contact with the Merrill-Palmer School she has specialized in this branch of child health work.

In speaking on "The Psychological Background of Health Teaching," Dr. O'Brien will urge upon the delegates the necessity for a thorough treatment of subjects. Not only the physical and mental ailments must be carefully rectified, he will contend, but broader questions, such as environment and the health of other members of the family, must be considered.

This will be the first national convention of the American Child Health Association, which was organized last Winter by the merging of the American Child Hygiene Association and the Child Health Organization of America. Herbert Hoover is the president of the Association, which has as its purpose the betterment of the health of America's childhood. It deals with every phase of this question, from the pre-natal period through the pre-school and school ages.

Administrative offices of the Association are at 370 Seventh Avenue, New York City, while national headquarters is maintained at 532 Seventeenth Street, Washington, D. C.

HOME DRESSMAKING

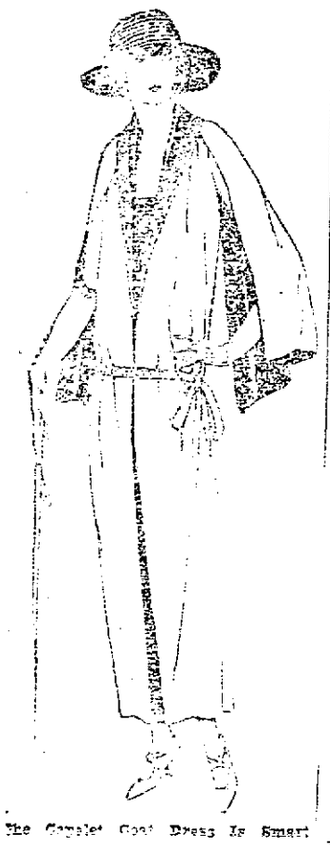
Emphasizing Newer Notes of Autumn Modes



The Complet Coat Dress Is Smart

High on one of the crest of Fashion's dizzying [illegible] that is dressy, practical and simple. It may be worn until very late in the season with only small furs added for both comfort and style.

Very dark navy blue Duvet twill lives up to its reputation of serving any purpose acceptably in this stunning model. The dress is of the coat type with a panel that may be lined with gray, tan or self-color crepe. Some venturesome souls might select bright green or flame color for the lining and their choice would be the last word in fashion. Whatever color is used for the cape lining is repeated in the narrow front panel of the skirt. The V-shaped front is trimmed with embroidery and this garniture is repeated on the narrow string belt of self-material.

The sleeves are long and close-fitting at the wrist and trimmed with fancy buttons. The figure shows how the sleeve is finished on the wrong side. Between three and four inches of the seam should be left unstitched to provide an opening for the hand to pass through. The right side of the seam is then turned down and hemmed (A). The left side is stitched with a facing (B), which extends around the lower edge of the sleeve. For the facing cut a strip of material on a perfect bias. Turn under each edge about ¼ of an inch and baste. Then turn under the edge of the left side of the sleeve seam. Paste the bias facing along the edge of the sleeve seam and around the lower line that encircle the wrist. Turn the corners carefully so that there will be no unevenness, then hem down both sides of the facing with fine hemming stitches.

If preferred, in copying this model the cape may be omitted.

Friends:

I wish to thank you for the very liberal patronage accorded the Grand Theatre since I took charge. The business has exceeded my expectations.

In order to give even greater entertainment, the Elks orchestra will furnish the music every night starting at 7:15. These boys you know are real musicians and are only too glad to render special selections which might be suggested.

With reference to pictures, it is a pleasure to say that contracts have been completed with some of the larger distributors, for a portion of the biggest productions of the year. The line up of pictures coming to The Grand for the next two months cannot be beat.

Is Too Often To Buy Poor Shoes

There are many cheap shoes to be had—too many. Possibly because some dealers figure, "There's one born every minute."

But they soon learn—a man never goes back for a pair of poor shoes.

We believe as you do—"The best is always most economical in the long walk." We will not sell a pair of shoes unless we're sure they're good shoes.

Here's a dandy for men who like a plain shoe—

Of Toney Red Calf or Tan Russia..$10.00
Of Soft Brown Kid.....$ 7.50
Of Koka Brown Kid.....$ 5.50

Sizes and widths for proper fitting of each individual foot.
